July 2012

Greetings Casper Boat Club Members:

Just when we think we have everything under control, the main hot water heater is not working to maximum efficiency. A new one will be installed the first couple of days in July.

People with to go cups, please, after you drink and your cup is empty, if you would not mind putting them in a trash can. Some were left on the front patio and the wind came up blowing them all around for some diners to see as they ate. Please throw them away or bring them back in the club and if your children have them out, please have them discarded the cups properly.

We also had some kids play with the one night shampoo and conditioner in the ladies restroom making a mess. Please watch your children as this could lead to losing your membership.

On a more pleasant note, the fireworks display will be on Wednesday the 4th of July. A great thanks to Andrew and his crew for doing all that is necessary for this great event. If you see them, please tell them what you think of the show. Also, please remember to make a nice donation as last year was very slim.

We have made some double assignments on land storage and will try and get new ones added and everyone can have their spot which is leading to more congestion for empty trailers. You will see some double deep in some areas. Please bear with us as the club grows, boats get bigger with and our footprint remains the same.

Lastly, the beach party has been moved to the 21st and the poker run is definitely on the 28th.

Hope to see everyone for the 4th!

Happy boating,

Lynn Burgess, Commodore 2012
